

Dear Masagi,

First of all, congrats on receiving the Rajyotsava award. We got to know about you thr' local network and we are very glad that we came together in making our surrounding place full of water with no dearth for it during years to come. Earlier when we started our company we had no scarcity for water. Both of our plants (which are located within a vicinity of 0.5 km) were water sufficient with a single borewell we had in our plant. As the area started developing our neighborhood also developed with increased water demand, there by the yield in our borewell reduced significantly due to which our water independency gradually faded. The rain water harvesting project that we selected supports us in recharging the bore well and also to increase the water table. We have had the first monsoon which our rain water harvesting system received in 2010. During coming years we will be reaping more benefits from this investment. Beneficiaries are not just our organization but the entire neighborhood.

I, on behalf of company thank Masagi for his able design and implementation as per his commitment.

Look forward to have more projects taken up on environmental front..

Regards,
Geetha
